Robert Kiefer obtained an MSc in Geology from the Ludwigs-Maximilians University of Munich. He started his career working in hydro- and environmental Geology, moving on to gold and diamond mining in South Africa. Prior to joining MinEx Projects Robert undertook consulting work on different commodities in a number of countries. At the same time he completed a (gold focused) PhD in Geology at the University of the Witwatersrand. With MinEx he has worked on a variety of gold deposits in southern Africa.
